DONOVAN'S PLAYERS TO REPORT MARCH 9

Cardinal's Manager Notifies His Men to Pack Their Trunks for Journey South.

TWENTY-FIVE WILL MAKE TRIP.

National League Team Will Have Enough Pitchers Alone to Make Almost Two Nines, but Some Will Be Dropped.

Patsy Donovan, the commander of the Cardinal crew, stated yesterday that the ducklings will take their preliminary practice at Dallas, Tex.

The graceful suburbanite in speaking of the ante-season series between the Cardinals and Browns stated that his youngsters would extend themselves to put it on the Browns when they meet.

In speaking of his team Donovan said that there is little doubt in his mind that the Cardinal-hosed babes would occupy a much higher position in the percentage col-much higher position in the percentage col-umns this year when the season closes than they did at the wind-up of last year's base-ball tournament.

Donovan has sent word to every one of his players to report here March 9 in order to be ready to make the trip South on March 19.

The Cardinals, Donovan says, have twen-

The Cardinals, Donovan says, have twen-ty-eight players under contract, and ad-mits that it will be a rather delicate task to reduce the number of players to make it look like a baseball team instead of an opera troupe. The distasteful weeding process, however, will be handled by Pat process, however, will be handled by Facthimself.

His method of picking out available men, however, is strictly on the merit system, and that every player who goes South will get a chance to show goes without saying.

The pitching department will be the first to hear the tuneful refrain of the axman's song. In this department Donovan has fourteen men, but it is a get-rich-quick scheme to bet that before the first ball is shanded to a slabman by one of the National League's official umpires the pitching staff will be reduced to six or seven, instead of the unwieldy proportions it now has.

The Cardinal leader says that, while he should be scored as an error, so-called fum-bles of ground balls being oftener due to the ground than to the player's lack of skill, bles of ground balls being ottener due ground than to the player's lack of skill, says an exchange.

What a howl such a rule would bring from the pitchers! Some official scorers may be too severe in charging errors against fielders, but it does not seem right to eliminate all fumbles from the error column. Such a rule might cause some infielders to grow careless in playing, as they could boot or fumble a grounder and know that an error would not be charged against them, and hits would be charged against the pitcher when perfect fielding would have resulted in an out.

when perfect fielding would have resulted in an out.

Fielders should be charged with errors when they are palpable. Records would be of little use under Manager Hanlon's suggestion, Some infielders may be good at throwing and very poor in stopping ground balls, yet their record would show up better than the man who gets in front of everything and occasionally makes a bad throw.

throw.

There are other ways to revise the system of scoring, and for the sake of records that would mean semething, and for good pitching records some other system than that suggested by Hanlon should be adopted.

Mose Willer after a very close and interesting game.

In the early stages of the game Day had a very comfortable lead, but toward the game's close the playing of Willer evened matters up somewhat.

Both players were in poorer form than they displayed in the first game of the match, and seemed to have much trouble in getting in stroke. A large crowd watched the players and had frequent opportunity for applause. Following is the score:

FLOORWALKER HAS EYES OPEN. Third Arrest in One Store for Suspected Shoplifting.

the Cardinal leader says that, while he is after Burke, and hopes to land him, Williams, the North Side boy, will get a chance to make good, and Donovan is a man that does not go around making promises and spending the rest of his time forgetting them.

Hartmann and Krueger probably will light it out to a finish for the third corner, but the probabilities are that if Burke is secured the Pretzel two will occupy conspicuous places on the bench.

Manager Hanlon believes that the scoring rules zhould be so amended that only "a wild throw, dropped throw or muffed fly"

Manie Crowley was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of shoplifting in the same store on Washington avenue where two women were arrested Monday afternoon for stealing dry goods and notions enough to start a small store.

She had in her possession two bottles of perfume, one belt, one pair of side combs and one box of hairpins, which she is supposed to have stolen.

Fred Kicker, floorwalker at the store, who turned the first women over to the police, also detected Mrs. Crowley. The prisoner, who says she lives at No. 1214 North Fourth street, was locked up at the Fourth District Police Station awaiting a warrant.

Steadily Overhauled the Flying Sprinter in the Stretch After He Had a Lead of Eight Lengths.

WON MILE RACE BY A NOSE.

Handspinner Was Only Half a Length Back-Carl Kahler, Favored by Start, Had No Trouble Winning.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 24.-Another big holiday crowd visited the race track to-day. They again found the picking of winners difficult, although Free Pass and Little Jack Horner, at the favorite's price, started them

The seven-furlong handicap gave promise of a good contest, but was spoiled by the start, as Carl Kahler, second choice, got away flying from an inside position, and had the race won in the first furiong. He opened up a gap of two lengths on the back stretch, and carried his field along at so fast a pace that none of them_could get to him. He was tiring at the end, but lasted long enough to win by a length from the outsider, Ernest Parham, who beat Andes, the favorite, a neck for the place.

Andes receded in the betting, most of the smart money going on Carl Kahler. Free Pass was considered the best in the first. Fuller got off well with him, kept him in front all the journey, and won easily by two lengths from John Bull, who beat Mary Moore a neck. The latter was under a drive and ran a game race.

Cup, the great after-Derby try-out, early lost its importance and the Whip went out of existence.

Then the Englishmen tried to stem the tide by putting in the great $5,000 handicaps, which, being nominally handicaps, really had many of the peculiarities of weight-for-age races in that they have many minor penalties and allowances. The idea was to retain some of the features of the weight-for-age events and to induce many owners to go and run at the champted horse of the year, carrying weight for age. Probably the best of the old English weight carriers was Faugh-a-Baliagh-Irish for Clear the Way-and The Baron. The famous Erench horse Jongleur carried 115 pounds and won the Cambridgeshire, the highest-weight ever carried by a winning 3-year-old in that event up to that time. Lauercost won the Cambridgeshire in 1839 with 121 up and the next year took the Chester Cup with 135 up. The Hero, another great handicap horse, won the Ebor Cup with 130 up, giving 64 pounds to the second horse.

In the Geodwood Cup Chanticleer gave a 3-year-old 48 pounds and a beating. Learnington, the great sire, afterwards imported to America, gave Gunboat, a really good 3-year-old, 25 pounds in the Chester Cup and beat him.

A great weight-carrying mare was Alice Hawthorne, the dam of Thormanby. She took up 134 pounds in the Chester Cup and ran second to Red Deer, a 3-year-old, to whom she was giving 89 pounds. This is perhaps the greatest weight-carrying feat ever performed. Alice carried more than 22 pounds-more than twice the weight carried by the winner. She was a wonderful race mare and dam of a wonderful and mare and dam of a wonderful son.

ISOMONYS GREAT FEAT.

Isomony packed 128 pounds in the Manchester Cup and heat twenty-one horses. Abbott, a 3-year-old, with ninety-one pounds up. was second. Barcaldine's victory in the Northumberland plate was a marvel. He carried 128 pounds over two miles, gave Shrewsbury seventeen pounds in the Miss Mining, same was a great forty pounds. Stefling's Cambridgeshire was a great weight-carryi Little Jack Horner was in among a speedy lot, but he beat the barrier and stayed in front, winning easily by a length from Malster, Alpaca was a poor third, Nyx had Malster. Alpaca was a poor third. Nyx had no speed, and White Owl, when moving up on the far turn, ran out.

Shotgun and Hedge, backed in the third, got no part of the money. Henry McDaniel rushed out, with a lead of eight lengths, in the early part. It looked as though he would run away with the purse, but he backed up in the stretch, and Floyd K. got to him, and in a hard drive beat him a head. Handspinner finished strong and was only beaten half a length for first money.

Alfred C. won the fifth cleverly from Eds Riley, and Nitrate, the last, in a drive from Witful.
